ANNUAL REPORT

... O Day, if I squander a wavelet of thee,
A mite of thy twelve-hours treasure,
The least of thy gazes or glances
(Be they grants thou art bound to, or gifts above measure),
One of thy choices, or one of thy chances (Be they tasks God imposed thee, or freaks at thy pleasure)
—My Day, if I squander such labour or leisure. . . .

TEN o'clock, midwinter, and a door that opens every few moments to admit someone in search of something.—The Invalid and Crippled Children's Society is now at the disposal of anyone who needs help or advice.

The letters are opened, entered and sorted. Four new 'Instrument Cases'. Queenie is to have a support costing £3 15s. Maureen, aged nine months, has been ordered a Left Israelite Splint which will lift her hand high above her head for the next six months. Leonard's Boots need new heels and straps which means 10s. Harold is to have a Spinal Jacket at a cost of £10. All the mothers are invited to come up and see us.

There are two new Convalescent Certificates from the local doctors. Pat's father, an old Indian Cavalryman, has been out of work for nine months. Pat's mother has died, and though the landlady has 'never denied him' he has developed anaemia and debility, and needs two months in the country. Joyce, an air-raider baby now thirteen, a bundle of nerves, has, according to her mother, 'pushed her clothes out of shape, her bones being that sharp'. All are booked for next Wednesday. This means a complete outfit for all three children and, at the moment, neither Hospital nor Convalescent Home has any clothes left in store.

Other letters ask if John may come up from Woodford Green, to have his tonsils done, since he snores and has stopped growing. . . . If there is any home for an incurable crippled boy of seventeen, and whether Joan can have some cod liver oil by next Saturday, this being her eighth birthday?

By this time the hall is full and the Massage Patients have occupied all the benches. Inside the Treatment Centre, Joyce, aged eighteen months, is having her legs massaged, drinking milk meanwhile, and her mother tells a heartbreaking story of the Christmas Club which absconded with £10 of her savings, the proceeds of the summer, on which she was counting for winter clothes and for a bed for Joyce. Several children are exercising under supervision. Last year's record shows 11,125 treatments. The new electric table, a kind gift in memory of the founder of the clinic, ticks monotonously, and Charlie, with his arm in a bath of water, shudders lightly in time to the ticking.

Outside a hubbub arises. The new convalescents are arriving; for this is Wednesday, and Nurse will be coming from our temporary home at Buckhurst Hill to exchange her old goods for new, at eleven o'clock. Peggy is very smart in a new knitted frock, and being only five, and certain that all the world apart from London is in the sea, has provided herself with twopence for a pail. John, the colour of parchment, is unwontedly cold from too close a haircut, and would keep his hat on, but is told it is not done. The three little Jones brothers stand shoulder to shoulder in a squad, prepared for the worst, their noses and chins scarlet with soap and the keen wind which blows over the riverside flats, and sweeps so bitterly up the poor streets. With all the good will in the world these ill-nourished children can not be kept warm in the winter.

GEORGE, A MASSAGE PATIENT

With the arrival of Nurse, comes a burst of tears. Horace, who has been recovering from one mastoid operation, and preparing for another, expects it to take place forthwith. But he is comforted and told he is to go home for a few days first. Marjorie, who has been away for six months, has grown out of her clothes and is anxious to carry home her luggage herself, to prove how robust she has become. The hall is full of embraces, farewells and blessings, and the weekly exchange is over.

The porter's dog rejoices in a few moments' peace, and lays his nose to the kitchen door. To interrupt his happy dream of dinner there arrives a batch of mothers asking for appointments for tonsils and adenoids operations. Last year over eight hundred children were admitted, and discharged two days later. The plea for the operation is not always a medical one. One mother hopes that 'if Iris had her tonsils took away, it might make her a good girl, she is that naughty'. Another mother regrets that Claud's nose 'Seems so flat like', which is so unexpected since 'his father is a beautiful Roman They are all told to come next week, and they file out past the bored dog.

He sleeps through the next visit, when a really kind friend brings us news of an entertainment for the benefit of our funds, and promises us the proceeds next week.

The next invaders are three weakly babies in one pram,
and two more in a push-chair, on their way to the Sunlight hut. Here there is a large family of 115 on the active list, with a total of 325 enrolled since the Ultra-Violet Ray Clinic started a year ago. These children come three times a week, and it is a happy group sitting round the lamp, the infants with their mothers during school hours, and the bigger children after school hours. To-day the doctor is in attendance, and asks for particulars as to ailments, appetites, and the sleeping-conditions of the little patients. Advice is given, and the dose of Sunlight increased or decreased as necessary. The children are weighed and measured weekly, haemaglobin tests taken, and careful records kept as to the improvement in health. It is wonderful to see the progress made by these babies—miserable, crying, wasting twin girls of four months weighing 7 lb. on starting treatment, and now, after three months, turning the scale at 14 lb.—brown gurgling creatures of which any mother might well be proud.
As for the school children, the head mistress of one school says: 'Why, instead of a quiet, listless, afraid child, I almost have to call her to order for being too boisterous'. The bigger ones have been writing essays on their experiences. Lilah says: 'Before I had the Sunlight I used to always feel sick, but since I have had it the sickness has gone off. I think the man who invented Sunlight must be a wonderful man, to cure poor suffering children. I love Sunlight Rays. It is a pleasure to me, and baby likes it too.' Lilah is ten. Joan, aged six, writes: 'i think the lamp of the Sunlight is very wonderful when i first saw the lamp i was affaid i wondered what it was going to do to me but i like it very much now i think we must all look funny seated round with our glasses i do hope it will do my neck good'. And another Joan, aged ten, says hopefully: 'I like Sunlight treatment because it is going to do me good. I am having the treatment because I am backward at school. I will try hard to get top of my class by the time Doctor discharges me. I like the Nurse at the hospital very much. She is so good and kind to all the children'.

A HELPLESS CASE

AFTER THREE MONTHS' CONVALESCENT TREATMENT

Again, the mothers find the Sunlight good as a weapon against naughtiness, as in the case of Freddie, aged five years, who delights so much in his Rays that the threat, 'I shall ask you to be taken off Sunlight' always has the desired effect.

Now comes the midday break, and the notice, 'Secretary's Office', is turned to 'Engaged' while the staff settles down to a sandwich lunch, flavoured with the ever-renewed discussion as to ways and means.

At two o'clock come the receipt book and the weekly bills, the balancing of which gives us furiously to think. Appeals are written and letters of thanks indited to our kind friends, who have sent cheques, toys, books, clothes, or any other of our vital needs.

At half-past three, again there is an invasion, children over eight for more tonsils and adenoids. This is a more peaceful performance than on Monday, when the toy-box is our salvation, and the frightened babies cheered with some cast-off squeaking rabbit or bird to while away the time of waiting. Then comes the welcome teapot, and the office begins to empty again, except for the never-ending stream of parents with their contributions towards the expenses of convalescence and instruments. Nor can we ever relax from the Encyclopaedia attitude: Do we collect silver paper? (We DO.) Will we take any child, regardless of colour, religion and politics? (We will.) Can we recommend any foster-mother who will take a baby of three weeks for not more than 4s. weekly? (We can not.) Winding up with a request from crippled John that we should again sign for the reduction of his dog licence.

And so to bed—if not for ourselves, certainly for the little patients in the hospital, cheered by their wonderful wireless turned on every afternoon, and by special request for the English and Irish International Rugby Match, to share the enthusiasm of the crowds—keen partisans, crippled though they be.

And when at the bedtime of the twins, Fat George and Thin Richard, aged nineteen months, the wireless is switched off, little Lena can be relied upon to oblige with the ‘Raggle Taggle Gipsies’, her legs swung high above her head, her position interfering not at all with her delicious bird-like voice.

Nurse goes the rounds of the beds. Alfred, watching her suspiciously, remarks: ‘Hop it! What with all your washing and brushing, I’ve had enough of it’.

Upstairs Daisy is in the seventh heaven. ‘Coo,’ she says to her neighbour, ‘Emily, don’t you feel like a real lady, lying there with that pink vest on you?’

Now the lights are lowered, and the children’s eyes follow the flower vases as they are moved to the hall. How much these are appreciated, it is impossible to say.

They that can wander at will, where the works of the Lord
are revealed,
Little guess what joy can be got from a cowslip out of a field.

Flowers to these 'Spirits in Prison' are all they can know of the Spring.

GEORGIE

SPECIAL THANKS

We must again acknowledge the very generous cheque from King Edward's Hospital Fund—£500, and from the Hospital Sunday Fund a donation of £110.

In addition to these, we should also like to thank the United Services Fund, The British Charities Association, The Hospital Savings Association, and the Hospital Saturday Fund.

We owe a debt of gratitude to the members of our Honorary Medical Staff: Mr. Coyte, Mr. Eaton, Mr. Francis, Dr. Harper, and Dr. Norman for their services during the past year, and also to Mr. Lambrinudi who resigned last October.

Once more we have to thank the Blackheath Congregational Church for the Annual Treat to our children, the Christmas Party to which they look forward with so much happiness.

We have seven named cots, and we must once more offer our sincere thanks for this generous help.

We desire to record our grateful thanks to Mr. Ryland for so kindly auditing our accounts for us.

Our voluntary workers have stood by us nobly again this year: Miss Cheetham, Mrs. Race, Miss Seely, Mrs. Snagge, Miss Straker, and Mrs. Thompson, and for their unfailing kindness we are indeed grateful.

In addition, there are those who have organized entertainments for us, who have given clothes, toys, and other gifts, Surgical Aid and Convalescent Letters, and in so many ways put aside their own pleasures unselfishly for our Society.

The past year has been full of anxiety, and the funds very low owing to the great strain on the country's resources. The poverty of this remote corner of London is as great as anywhere in the kingdom. We should like to do so much more, but the Society's money goes far too quickly when we have so many departments to maintain: our Hospital—the Massage and Electrical Clinic—the Sunlight Hut—and last, but by no means least, our new Convalescent Home at Shoberyness. We have met with a great deal of kindness in this district, but this is a Land of Poverty.

Is that trembling cry a song?
Can it be a song of joy?
And so many children poor!
It is a Land of Poverty.

And their sun does never shine,
And their fields are bleak and bare,

And their ways are filled with thorns:
It is Eternal Winter there.

For where'er the sun does shine,
And whene'er the rain does fall,
Babes should never hunger there,
Nor poverty the mind appal.

I have examined the above Balance Sheet, and have obtained all the information and explanations I have required. The amount of £1,680 1s. 11d., held on behalf of the I.C.C.S. by the West End Appeal Committee for the new Convalescent Home, is not included in this Balance Sheet. Subject to this, this Balance Sheet is in my opinion properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the affairs of the Society on 31st December 1928.
